DELAY OF TRIAL IS SCANDAL

Former Premier of France Tells of His Part in Connection With It

ACCUSED STOLE MILLIONS

Investigating Committee of the Chamber of Deputies Holding Session and Taking Testimony of Prominent Politicians.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Paris, March 20.—Ernest Monis, former premier of France appeared today before the investigating committee of the Chamber of Deputies to explain his part in the scandal connected with the delay in the trial of Henri Rochette, who is said to have swindled the French public out of many millions.

Jean Jaures, the Socialist leader, presides over the committee. He requested Monis to tell in his own way what had happened in the affair. Monis said:

"Joseph Caillaux, then minister of finance, called upon me early in March, 1911, and mentioned the approaching trial of Henri Rochette. He said that one of the lawyers desired the postponement of the proceedings. Caillaux added that owing to the financial situation, the pleadings likely to be made at the trial, would cause losses to the savings banks and would affect public loans. No political interest was mentioned.

"Now, as to Victor Fabre the public prosecutor. He had called upon me four or five times during my premiership to report to me on various matters. On this occasion I inquired whether on account of the financial situation the trial could be delayed.

"Mr Fabre replied, that to send the Rochette affair back to the investigating judge would not affect the trial itself but would be evilly interpreted by public opinion. I remarked that that was a question for the presiding judge of the court to dispose of.

"No pressure whatever was placed upon me, Fabre. He left me in an amiable mood and stood outside my room talking with my son for 20 minutes during which he expressed the esteem and admiration he had for me.

Gap in Cabinet Has Been Filled

The gap in the French cabinet caused by the resignation of Ernest Monis from the ministry of marine was filled today by the appointment of Armand Elser Gauthier, a former minister of public works.

Premier Doumergue, who had been much disturbed by the withdrawal from the cabinet of Joseph Caillaux, after Madame Caillaux had assassinated Gaston Calmette, specially requested Senator Gauthier a member of the same political group to assist him. Senator Gauthier after some deliberation consented to take the portfolio abandoned by M. Monis, who resigned owing to allegation of his having, when premier, brought influence to bear to postpone the trial of Henri Rochette, on charges of extensive frauds.

Police Precautions at Calmette Funeral

The funeral of Gaston Calmette, victim of Mme. Caillaux, took place today in the church of Saint Francois de Sales in the northwestern district of Paris and within a block of the residence of his assassin.

Hours before the procession moved, vast crowds filled the street. The police and military authorities had taken great precautions to prevent any disturbances. The police were out in force all along the route. The underground railway stations nearby were occupied by large detachments who had instructions to close them if the crowds became too great to handle. Squadrons of mounted republican guards also were under arms and occupied strategic positions in the vicinity.

Among the notable personages present at the funeral were Emile Lombet, former president of the Republic; Aristide Briand and Louis Barthou, two former premiers; Prince Murat; Baron Robert de Rothschild; Fernand Labori, the attorney who is to defend Mme. Caillaux; Sarah Bernhardt, and hundreds of others.

Some of the many wreaths bore the inscriptions "A victim of his devotion to his country" and "Killed on the field of honor."

High prices were paid for advantageous places along the route from which to see the procession. There was no funeral oration in the church. A simple mass was performed by the parish priest.

The funeral procession reached the cemetery without incident. The crowds along the route were silent and unmoved respectfully as the hearse passed.

GASTON CALMETTE.

JOSEPH CAILLAUX.

The far reaching consequences of the shooting of Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro, the famous Parisian newspaper, by Mme. Caillaux, wife of the ministers of finance are admitted by all Frenchmen. Already there has been a reorganization of the cabinet. The influence on the coming elections cannot now be measured.

Two Fires In the Business District of Youngstown Early Today Cause $75,000 Loss

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Youngstown, O., March 20.—Two fires early today caused a loss of more than $75,000 here.

The largest blaze destroyed the jewelry store of Amaden, Phillips & Foye, in Phelps street, with $20,000 loss, spread to the adjoining factory of the H. B. Burt Co., which was gutted with $50,000 loss, and damaged the McLean florist shop to the extent of $500. This blaze was caused by an overheated furnace in the basement of the jewelry store. The diamonds and principal valuable stock were in a safe in the basement. This has as yet not been reached. It is possible further loss will be discovered when this is opened. The other fire was in the Knights of Columbus hall on the third floor of the K. of C. block, and was caused by crossed electric wires. The loss is $6,000.

WILL TEST THE HITE ROAD LAW IN THE COURTS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, March 20.—Mandamus suit to compel John E. Roosevelt, auditor of Putnam county, to collect the state's share of taxes for roads in his county under the Hite half-mile levy law, was filed in the Supreme court here today by State Auditor Donahy. The contest will be a friendly one and is expected to subject the Hite law to another test to determine its constitutionality to compel making the levy in 1913.

Auditor Donahy said today that $10,000 will be collected in Putnam county if he is successful in the suit. The county officials' contention is that the Hite law should have been subject to referendum and that the referendum period made it impossible for them to make a levy under the law on the 1913 duplicate.

In the suit Auditor Donahy as an official, will be compelled to assume a position that he opposes individually. He said today he believes statewide tax levies made by the legislature should be subject to referendum.

The constitution, however, says: "Laws providing for tax levies and appropriations for the current expenses of the state government and state institutions, shall go into immediate effect."

IN DANGER OF WATER SHORTAGE

Rebels Disable Pump At Waterworks Plant At Tampico

EIGHT DAYS' REPAIRS

Will Be Required to Put the Plant in Working Order—Government at Washington May Recognize Senor Jose Rojas as President.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, March 20.—Explanation of the reported destruction of the waterworks at Tampico, which would imperil the large foreign element there in violation of the agreement between American officers and General Aguilar, of the constitutionalists, is contained in an overnight wireless message from Rear Admiral Fletcher at Tampico. He says:

Reports indicate that there are no constitutionalists nearer Tampico than Altamira (about 20 miles.)

"Neither side has advanced its outposts. The federalists withdrew their guard from the waterworks and the constitutionalists disabled the pump, requiring about eight days' repairs. The guards have been replaced at the waterworks."

The president of commendation general board in the State department is the belief that the administration is preparing to recognize Senor Jose Rojas, Huerta's minister of foreign affairs as provisional president of Mexico.

Rojas, the report states, is to be accepted by this government following the abdication of Huerta and his departure for the fighting zone.

Rojas, at the present time, is holding a secret conference with the United States Confidential Agent, John Lidd. It was freely reported that on this conference, as much as on any one event in Mexico, hinges the final decision of the government to establish a condition of peace.

Washington officials are still eagerly looking forward to the defeat of the constitutional forces at Torreon. This accomplished, they say, it will be a relatively simple matter for Huerta to resign his directorate and "permit" Senor Rojas to take his place.

Three conditions which Rojas is understood to have placed before Lind, with the view to establishing him as provisional president, are:

The resignation of Huerta, with the understanding that he be permitted to hold some other office in the Federal government.

An armistice with the constitutionalists to be arranged by Rojas.

A popular election to be held whenever an election can be held.

Serious fears are entertained at the State Department that even if such an election was arranged, it would be impossible to get out a representative vote.

MEXICANS KIDNAP AMERICAN; ESCAPES BY DIVE IN RIVER

Austin, Texas, March 20.—Charles Ballard, an American, was kidnapped by Mexicans Wednesday from Carrizo Springs, Texas, and escaped by diving into the Rio Grande river, according to dispatches today to Governor O. B. Colquhitt. The governor has wired to know whether Texas rangers are needed in the Carrizo Springs territory.

VICTIM OF SHOOTING MAY LIVE

Absence of unfavorable symptoms following the wounding of Mrs. Rudolph Ferency, who was shot Thursday evening by her brother-in-law, Steve Ferency, leads the attending physician, Dr. W. H. Kauss, to believe that she has a chance for recovery though the bullet fired by the would-be murderer, passed entirely through the woman's head. According to Dr. Kauss' statement, the ball entered the right side of the head just back of and below the right ear, passed entirely through the head and passed out in front of the left ear near the cheek bone. The missile passed through at a point below the brain which probably accounts for the woman's escape from death.

The funeral of Steve Ferency who shot himself after trying to kill the woman, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of Hazler & Bradley in North Fourth street. Interment will be made at Cedar Hill cemetery.

Sir Edward Carson, Ulster Leader Treating With the Government on Home Rule

Your Money's Worth

One of Newark's best known society women said to the Advocate this morning: "I am much interested in the contest pictures and this interest is shared by every member of the family. We all turn to page 2 as soon as the paper arrives but not one of the family has given serious study to the pictures as yet. Of course we are saving the coupons and when the contest is about half over will send for a catalogue. Then in an evening or two we shall study the pictures and find answers for all of them. My son wants to win the bicycle, or the Remington gun. My oldest daughter says she will be content with the diamond ring or the Victrola and Mr. says the Ford car will do for him. I admit that the $515 in gold would suit me best but then most anything in that list of 136 prizes will be welcome in our house."

A Columbus man who is studying the pictures writes: "This contest is not a losing game for you get your money's worth of fun out of it whether you win a prize or not. Take that as the truth from a man who has gone through two such contests."

A great many people are in this contest and MORE ARE GETTING IN EVERY DAY. Doubtless many others are doing as is the woman above quoted, saving the coupons intending to get busy a little later. The fact is it is just as easy to begin now as it has been at any time.

This is necessary—nothing more: GET THE BACK COUPONS AT THIS OFFICE if you have not been saving them. GET AN ADVOCATE CATALOGUE and solve the pictures. Each picture represents the name of a book.

Each contestant may have 5 solutions for each picture on separate coupons. Prizes numbering 136 and worth almost $4,000 will be awarded.

ACTIVITY DISPLAYED AT BELFAST

Sir Edward Carson, Leader of Ulster Unionists Arrives in Ireland Today

GREETED BY BIG CROWD

Which Cheered Wildly and Fired Salvos Into the Air—Extra Precautions Have Been Taken by the Military Barricks.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Belfast, Ireland, March 20.—Sir Edward Carson, the leader of the Unionists of Ulster, made a dramatic entry into the capital of the province today. His purpose in coming here is to consult with the other Ulster Unionist leaders and with the commanders of the Ulster volunteer forces.

The great activity displayed at Unionist headquarters and in the army barracks have caused considerable excitement among the people of Belfast who for days past have been momentarily expecting some decisive move on the part of the Unionist chiefs or the government.

Before landing this morning Sir Edward Carson received on board the steamer on which he had made the passage from England Sir George Richardson, a retired lieutenant general of the British army, who is commander in chief of the Ulster Unionist forces together with his chief officers.

As the party came down the gangway from the steamer to the pier, they found drawn up as a guard of honor the emergency forces of picked men of the Ulster Volunteers, who had been summoned to the Ulster headquarters at a late hour last night.

A big crowd gave them a noisy welcome, cheering wildly and firing salvos into the air from their revolvers.

During the night, automobiles had been kept busy moving stores and documents from the Unionist headquarters, apparently fearing a raid by the police who have been keeping close watch on every move made by the Unionists.

Precautions of a rigorous character have been taken at the Victoria military barracks here. Extra guards are on duty day and night. Urgent instructions have been sent to the military authorities in the south of Ireland to despatch reinforcements immediately to the garrison stations in Ulster.

The proposed parade of Nationalist volunteers announced for Sunday at Londonderry, which was regarded by many quarters as likely to result in a conflict which would set the heaviest on fire in Ulster will probably be abandoned. John Redmond, the nationalist leader, today telegraphed an urgent appeal to the promoters of the parade to cancel the affair which he said, "calculated to inflict the gravest injury on the Nationalist cause as it was playing the game of their bitter enemy and affording the pretext they were particularly looking for."

The House occupied by Sir Edward Carson and the other Unionist leaders is guarded by Ulster volunteers in full service kit prepared to resist any attempt to execute warrants which might be issued by the authorities.

In response to instructions from army headquarters a detachment of 200 infantry arrived at Newry today from the Curragh and another 300 from Mullingar. The garrison of Londonderry also was reinforced by 300 men from Mullingar, and two warships arrived in Dublin bay. Feeling among the public in Belfast has become tense since yesterday's debate in parliament. Soon after his arrival here, Sir Edward Carson issued an appeal to his followers to preserve calm.

FLUET WILL SAIL. (ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Dublin, March 20.—The fleet of British warships now lying in Santry Bay in the southwest of Ireland is expected to sail tomorrow for Kings-town harbor which lies seven miles to the southeast of Dublin.

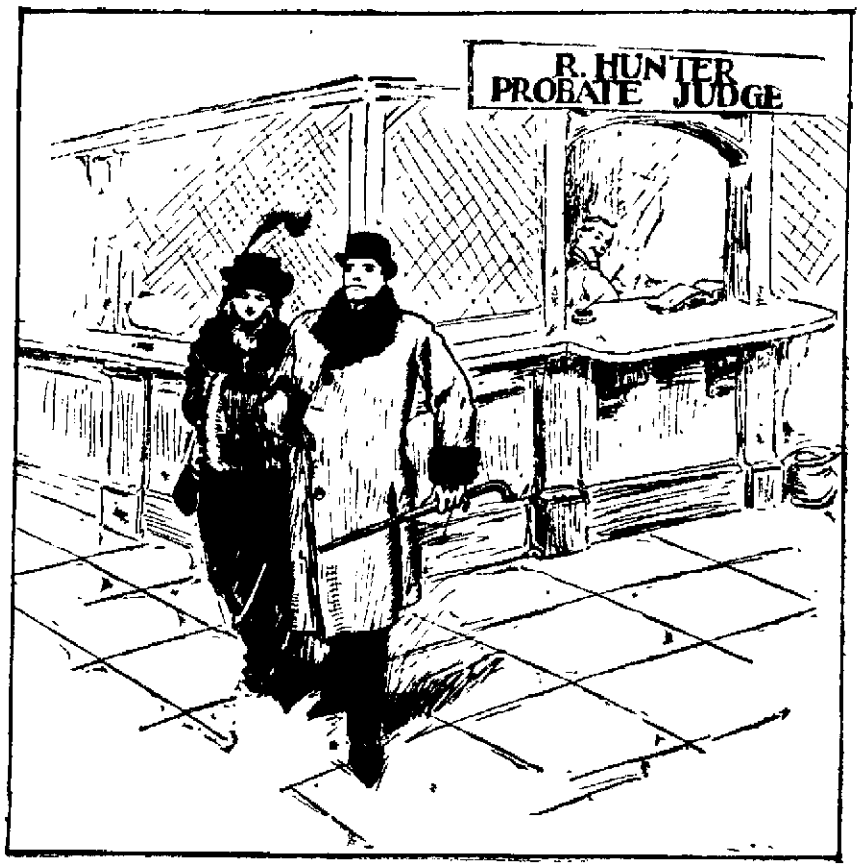

ARGUE JURY LAW IN SUPREME COURT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, March 20.—Council for the new small board of education of Cincinnati and for the old large board appeared before the Supreme court here today to argue the constitutionality of the June law under which the size of the board in Ohio cities were reduced. The small board filed suit in quo warranto some time ago against the large board but since the small body is acting officially now the case involves only a moot question.

City Solicitor Walter M. Schoonbecker appeared for the small board and Simon M. Johnson and William Thorndyke for the large board.

Clip out your coupons neatly, and fill them out clearly and plainly, remembering that in the event of a tie for any prize between two or more contestants, neatness and clear writing will win the judges' favor. The picture is to be a part of the coupon. Do not detach the coupon from the picture.

Send no answers whatever to the Advocate until the contest is ended by the publication of Picture No. 70. Any answers received before that time will be destroyed and will not be counted. Read the rules carefully.

Rules of the Booklovers' Contest.

Any person may compete in this contest who lives either in Licking, Delaware, Knox, Coshocton, Muskingum, Perry, Fairfield or Franklin counties, Ohio, except employees of the Advocate or members of their families.

Answers to the picture must be written upon the coupon blank which will be printed every day with each picture during the seventy publication days the contest will last. Both picture and blank must be clipped from the paper, and the blank properly filled in with the name of book and the author's name together with the name and address of the contestant written clearly and plainly in the space provided. Not more than one person's name may be written on any coupon.

Each picture will represent the title of only one book, but there may be some pictures that suggest the title of several books. For the benefit of contestants, and to allow for this variety of solution, any contestant may give as many as five answers to any picture, at will, but not more than one solution may be written on any coupon. If the contestant gives two answers as likely to include the correct one, two coupons must be used; if three answers, three coupons, and so on.

In each instance, whether the contestant gives one answer or five answers to any picture, both the pictures and coupon must be used for each of the answers; and not more than five answers to any picture will be permitted.

Prizes will be awarded to every contestant, by the Contest Judge, who sends in the largest number of correct answers upon the smallest number of coupons. Thus if a contestant gives the correct answers to 70 of the pictures and uses only 70 coupons, that contestant will rate higher in the prize awards than one who uses 140 coupons or any higher number up to 350 for supplying the 70 correct answers.

If two or more persons, supplying the same number of correct answers, have used the same number of coupons for their answers, the highest rating will be given to the one whose answers are most neatly prepared, in the opinion of the judges.

No contestant will be allowed to submit more than one set of answers which must include not less than 70 or more than 350 coupons, with accompanying pictures.

Positively no solution may be sent in to the Contest Editor until every one of the seventy pictures has been printed. Answers in complete sets, as just specified above, will then be received in this office, and should be addressed to "Contest Editor," Booklovers' Contest, Advocate, Newark Ohio. The awards will be made strictly according to the correctness of each set of answers, and the correctness shall be

MAY LEGALIZE BELTING ON THE GERMAN JUMPERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, March 20.—The German government's measure legalizing betting on horse races through licensed bookmakers was published here today.

The bill which had been heralded as combatting handbooks and other illicit forms of betting which have flourished greatly under the existing law restricting betting to the official highly taxed Pari-Mutuels. The measure also is intended to discourage betting among the lower and middle classes and to augment the government revenue by taking the immense sums now illicitly wagered.

The percentage to be taken by the government and the race track owners from the takings of the pari-mutuels is reduced by the new measure from 16 1-2 to 12 per cent in order to popularize machine betting while money bet through bookmakers are to be subjected to a general tax of six per cent.

Winners, moreover, are to be taxed on a graduated scale ranging from six to twenty per cent, according to the odds.

Unlicensed bookmakers by the new regulations are subject to a punishment of two years imprisonment and confiscation of the bets, while the betters themselves are to be heavily fined.

The bill prohibits the public display of race results and tips, and makes illegal bets recoverable by legal action.

ASTHMA-CATARH AND HAY FEVER

Can Be Greatly Relieved By the New External Vapor Treatment.

Melt in a spoon a little Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Group and Pneumonia Salve and inhale the vapors. Put a little up each nostril and at night apply well over throat and chest covering with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so that the vapors of Menthol, Thymol, Eucalyptol, Camphor, and Pine Tar, that are released by the body heat, may be inhaled all night long. In Asthma and Hay Fever rub Vick's over the spinal column to relax the nervous tension. This treatment is not a "cure" but it has at least the merit of containing no harmful drugs and it is sold by all druggists in 25c, 50c, and $1.00 jars, on 30 days' trial. Vick's is also excellent for all croup and cold troubles.

NO JURISDICTION TO MAKE ORDERS PREVENTING ELECTROLYSIS OF GAS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, March 20.—The state public utilities commission has no jurisdiction to make orders preventing electrolysis of gas and water pipes by escaping currents from electric railways or wires, the commission decided today. Yesterday the commission heard the complaint of the Toledo, Bowling Green & Southern Traction Co. against an ordinance prescribing certain kinds of equipment to prevent escape of currents and consequent electrolysis.

Gas interests contended the commission had no jurisdiction and that validity of such ordinances should be decided by the courts. Electric companies argued that the commission could review such local ordinances.

It is said the Findlay ordinance will be made a model for other cities, to adopt, and that gas and water companies will foster a movement to urge its adoption in all cities of the state.

SEVEN UNCONSCIOUS WHEN HOME FILLED WITH LEAKING GAS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, March 20. Philip Weinberg, East Thirty-ninth street grocer, awakened this morning dizzy and found his home filled with gas. His wife and six children were unconscious on the floor or in bed. He struggled with them, one at a time, until he had carried all out of doors. One son, Isadore, aged 24, is dying at a hospital; Samuel, aged 20, has but slight chance for recovery. The others were revived by hard work by neighbors who were summoned. A leaking stove in one bedroom caused the trouble.

A WIDOW'S RUSE

By MARGARET C. DEVEREAUX

In antebellum days there lived in Georgia on a large plantation, which he owned, one David Dupont. His wife bore him one child, a son, and when the baby was but a year old the father died, leaving his property to his wife in trust for his son. But Dupont's affairs had always been in the hands of one John Coulter, in whose business ability and integrity the planter had every confidence. He therefore left the management of the estate to Coulter as executor.

Mrs. Dupont had always distrusted Coulter, but so great was his influence over her husband that she dared not speak her mind.

One day she set out from the plantation to visit a friend. Her trunks were taken to the station by the negroes, but the widow carried in her hand what in those days was called a handbox made of pasteboard, intended for the carrying of women's bonnets or men's hats. This box she would trust to no other hands than her own. She told all of the household that her baby was to remain in the hands of Chloe, his mammy, and no one else was to have anything to do with him.

Mrs. Dupont had been away from the plantation but a few days when Chloe's husband, Sampson, appeared to inform her that little Archie, her son, was very ill. She hurried home, and, going to the sickroom, shut herself up there, giving orders that no one except the doctor, who had been the family physician for years, was to be admitted. The doctor came and went, but when asked how the baby was getting on always hurried away without giving any satisfaction. One day when he came out of the sickroom he said:

"It's all over."

Two days later Simpson carried a little coffin from the house, followed by the widow, the boy's mammy and all the negroes on the plantation. There were wails from the dusky mourners, but none wailed so loud as the dead boy's mammy. The coffin was carried to the family cemetery, where it was placed in a grave that had been prepared for it.

John Coulter during Archie's sickness, death and burial was away on business. When he returned he found his plans seriously interfered with. There was a provision in David Dupont's will that if his son died before his widow the estate should be hers instead of in trust for the boy. The widow at once claimed the property and told Coulter that he must turn it over to her.

"The executor was in a hole. He had partly accomplished his plans to get possession of the property and had it not been for the child's death would doubtless soon have got it into a position where he would appear to be the rightful owner. As it was, he could only undo what he had done and turn the estate over to the widow. He was a long while doing it, and she was obliged on several occasions to threaten him with a charge of misappropriation to force him to disgorge. When he had done so she dismissed him, hoping that he would leave the neighborhood. But in the service of the Dupont family he had accumulated some money, with which he bought a small plantation in an adjoining county, where he settled."

Some eight or nine years after Archie Dupont's death the widow brought to the plantation a boy whose age was given as twelve years and adopted him. George Etheridge was the boy's name, and he soon became a favorite with all the household. Chloe and Mrs. Dupont both seemed to have transferred to him their love for little Archie. George grew up a fine fellow and, thanks to his mother by adoption, was well educated.

When Etheridge was about to become of age Mrs. Dupont granted him a celebration of the event. The planters from round about were invited to the fête, and, strange to say, John Coulter, who had continued to prosper and had become a prominent citizen, received an invitation. Surprise was manifested at the extent of the preparations, and some persons who remembered the boy's age as given out when he came to the plantation declared that he had come of age a year or two before.

However, there was a fine gathering in honor of the event. On the birthday when the clock struck 12 the guests were gathered on a lawn near the house. Mrs. Dupont was there with George Etheridge and Chloe and all the household negroes.

"My friends," said the widow, "and Mr. Coulter, this is my son, Archie, David Dupont. When he was a year old I gave out that he was dead. This I did in order to get possession of my property, which was passing into the hands of the executor of the estate. I took my baby away in a handbox. Chloe, as I had arranged with her, sent me word of his illness, and I returned to bury a wax doll. When he grew old enough not to be known for himself I brought him here. These pretensions are no longer necessary, for he is his father's will his property is to be turned him today."

All were surprised except young Dupont, who had known the facts for several years and Chloe, who had always known them.

While Mrs. Dupont was speaking her eyes were fixed on John Coulter. Not being a sensitive man, his mind was not wounded by the manner in which he had been beaten by a woman.

IS YOUR CHILD'S TONGUE COATED?

Look and see, Mother! When cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach-ache, sore throat, or is constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs." and in a few hours all the "out" constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without straining, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

He is often accused of reading the postcards that pass through his hands, but this he strongly denies. A lady called at the shop and ordered, among other goods, a ham and a cheese. Two days later the lady called again and asked why these two articles had not been sent with the other goods. "Oh," replied the merchant calmly, "I saw by the postcard you got yesterday that your friends wasn't comin', so I natchelly thought you wouldn't need them things."—Argosaut.

THIS KIDNEY REMEDY A GREAT HEALER

For a number of years I was troubled with my kidneys, condition so serious that part of the time I was unable to work. Tried several remedies, also different physicians without relief. A sample of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, was left at my house. I commenced to take it and continued it until I had taken several bottles and am now cured. Am sixty-two years of age and able to work every day. I attribute my cure to the use of your Swamp-Root.

My wife also was cured by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Symptoms were very serious, including hemorrhages, great pain and distress. I commenced giving her Swamp-Root and it was just as healing in her case. We can heartily recommend your Swamp-Root to all kidney sufferers.

Very truly yours,

STATE OFFICER INQUIRES INTO SCHOOL SEWER

Engineer Van Buskirk of the state board of health, was in Newark Thursday making an inspection of the sewerage disposal system of the Grant street school where he found that the sewage had been discharged into the Holler ditch which opens through a part of West Newark. Mr. Van Buskirk inquired when the school board expected to comply with its plans to discharge the sewage into a septic tank before emptying it into the ditch. This will be required by the state board of health.

MEETING WAS ENTHUSIASTIC FOR NEW PLAN

Quite a large number of men interested in the new plan announced by the Newark Board of Trade, met in the council chamber in the Newark Trust building Thursday night and adopted a general plan of campaign to be followed out in organizing the entire city for effective work. Every precinct will have its squad of personal workers headed by a captain who will take a sort of supervision over the progress of the work.

Every man present showed his attitude toward the object announced and several made enthusiastic speeches approving the method to be followed and prophesying the ultimate success of the idea of a bigger and better city.

The meeting was called to order by E. M. Baugher, chairman of the executive committee of the board, who asked for an expression of opinions and invited suggestions of ways and means.

Ringling speeches were made by A. A. Stasel, R. W. Smith, Mr. Eads, Harry Russell, Frank Meentz, W. H. Smith, Frederic Jones and Herman Elisper.

The steps taken Thursday night were definitely preliminary to the big campaign that will be soon in full swing in every part of Newark.

FREE WATER FOR SCHOOLS ILLEGAL HOGAN'S OPINION

Same Question Came up in Newark Over Two Years Ago and is Now in Court.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, March 20.—Parochial school may not be supplied with water free from municipal water works, even by authorization of the council, Attorney General T. S. Hogan said today in an opinion to Solicitor George C. Vonbeseler, of Painesville.

There is a suit involving the same question now in the courts, which originated in Newark. The public and parochial schools are at present getting water from the municipal plant free of charge, pending the final disposition of the suit in court.

This legal action was brought by W. C. Christian, when he was service director under a former administration, to compel the schools to pay for the water used. This was tried to the court and the city lost the case, which was appealed and is now in the upper court.

TWO-MAN TEAM FROM TORONTO, HIGH BOWLERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Buffalo, N. Y., March 20.—Sutherland and Johnston of Toronto shot high in the two-man events of the American Bowling congress tournament today totalling 1170. They scored 591 in the first game, 558 in the second and 421 in the third. Smith and Browne of Montreal were second high with 1155, while Miller and Seener of Buffalo were third best with 1122.

Today's two man and individual schedule is the biggest of the tournament thus far, the doubles running way into the late afternoon, while the individual bowlers occupied the alleys until early tonight.

Chicago, Newark, Port Wayne and Cleveland bowlers will make up the five man squads tonight, the best teams from Chicago being on today's schedule. Six teams are coming from Port Wayne.

BOYS WANTED FOR ALLEGED BRASS THEFT

This is the story of two boys, a barn, some brass, and a constable. All quantities mentioned are within reach except the two boys and they're expected shortly.

It seems that on or about March 15, when Phillip Kaufman, of Twenty-fourth street, was apprised of an unusual commotion such as the chattering of harrow teeth and similar blood curdling sounds in the vicinity of his stable, in which he kept farming implements and horses, he caused an investigation. It seems further that the investigation revealed two boys, probably between the ages of eighteen and twenty, closely attached to certain more or less valuable quantities of brass, which until shortly before had been component parts of the machinery mentioned.

By some dexterity of limb and head the aforementioned boys beat at beyond jurisdiction of the strong arm of Mr. Kaufman, but not however, before he had discovered that the barn had been forcibly entered and the brass particles separated against their will and contrary to the law and statutes in such cases made and provided.

Whereupon there was caused to be executed before Magistrate F. S. Scott an affidavit charging William Mahary and John Rose, of Eden township, with having been the two boys aforementioned.

Further records of this case are of necessity omitted pending the return of the two boys to jurisdiction of the court, their arrest and trial. The constable mentioned before is closely eyeing every lad bearing the description of the two, awaiting only the opportunity of resting his hands gently on their two shoulders with the calmly uttered phrase so popular in police circles:

"Budge not a foot. Ye are my prisoners."

BARBER POSITIVE OF IDENTITY OF THE MISSING BOY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Elmira, N. Y., March 20.—Warren McCarrick, the Philadelphia boy who disappeared from Philadelphia, was without doubt in this city Wednesday in the company of a man and woman. The child was taken to a barber shop and his golden hair cut.

The barber later saw the boy's picture and is positive that he is the missing boy. The description of the lad is identical with that sent out from Philadelphia. Chief of Police Finnell communicated with the Philadelphia police and is positive that the boy is the one they are looking for. The man and woman went west on the Lackawanna train Wednesday, buying tickets for Buffalo. Buffalo police have been notified.

INSPECTION OF PLUMBING UP TO CITY

As a result of interest aroused by addresses of physicians and plumbing experts at Thursday night's public meeting with the master plumbers of Newark, a committee is to be appointed to wait on the city council at its next meeting to urge enforcement of state code which requires establishment of a department of plumbing inspection.

Master plumbers will confer Friday night in a meeting to be held in the assembly room of the Newark Trust building and at that time it is expected the committee will be appointed.

While the gist of the talks by local men in Thursday night's meeting indicated that there is no doubt of the necessity for a plumbing inspector here, the chief question appears to be how funds shall be raised with which to pay for such service.

According to William Hawes, plumbing expert of Dayton, who addressed the meeting as a special guest of the master plumbers of Newark, the financial problem could be solved by the city agreeing to pay part of the expense of inspection, the balance to be assessed from the purchasers of plumbing jobs at a certain rate per fixture. This suggestion appeared to meet with general favor in the meeting.

Mr. Hawes explained how plumbing should be done and how it is accomplished under a system of inspection in many smaller Ohio cities than Newark. He referred to the state code, which provides for a department of inspection of plumbing in each city, declaring that the state law ought to be enforced in Newark in this respect.

Dr. W. H. Knauss, head of the city health department raised the question of financing such a department, and expressed the belief that Newark might have had a plumbing inspector some time ago if master plumbers had taken up the agitation earlier.

A. R. Trimble, manager of the Home Heating & Plumbing company, told how plumbing ought to be done in Newark and how it is done here. He referred to Co-shorion's system of plumbing inspection as an example of what many of the other smaller cities are doing in a progressive way.

Dr. J. P. Stedem and Dr. A. T. Steer addressed the meeting, viewing the proposition from the standpoint of sanitation. They noted cases in which their services had been required where illness had been traced directly to faulty, unsanitary plumbing such as could have been avoided with a city department of inspection on the job.

ATE ONLY RAW EGGS UNTIL MAYR REMEDY RESTORED HER STOMACH

S. D. Martin and Friend Are Both Saved by Using Wonderful Treatment.

S. D. Martin of Elkton, O., suffered with stomach troubles and difficulties in his digestive tract. He lost weight and his appetite was bad.

He took one dose of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and was swiftly restored—with one dose. Seven months later he sent an order for more saying:

"Since taking your sample I have not been bothered any to speak of with my stomach. Before I had headaches and dizzy, weak spells, of which I am almost free. I have gained fifteen pounds since taking the one dose. It is not that I need the medicine now that I am sending. I am simply going to take it as a preventative. My wife induced a lady friend to try it. She had been eating only a raw egg or cracker or two, and often could not keep them down. This lady used your remedy and it has almost cured her.

Letters like that come from the thousands of users of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy all over the United States. It is known everywhere. The first dose convinces—no long treatment.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucus, acid secretions and poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from stomach, liver and bowel trouble. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of its remarkable success there are many imitations, so be careful. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to Hall's drug store and ask them about the wonderful results it has accomplished in cases they know or send to George H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book of stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you about its wonderful effects.

A Splendid Showing

(Cincinnati Enquirer)

The report of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation for the year ended December 31 last has just been made public, and it is so well recognized by the business men of the United States that good, profitable business conditions existing in the iron and steel trades are a guaranty of good general business that this report is more than significant—it is convincing, and conclusively so.

It should be remembered that this report covers a year that was peculiarly affected by the uncertainties that invariably accompany a revision of the tariff.

It should be remembered that in this same period there was an abnormal stringency in financial affairs at home and abroad.

It should be remembered that a new administration took possession of the Federal power, and that this also brought the usual dread of changes in national policies, in interpretations of business laws and of some limitations in industrial affairs.

These, one and all, militated against business in the United States during the year 1913, and yet the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, under the able, energetic and efficient direction of President Schwab, surpassed in its business results all prior years.

It is a report that from beginning to end carries with it remarkable evidence of the exceedingly fine business conditions existing in the United States.

The net profits from operation of the plants and from investments of the corporation were $4,792,713 in the year 1911, $5,114,440 in 1912 and $3,752,671 in 1913. After setting aside $1,272,270 for depreciation and paying interest on the funded debt there was left for dividends $5,122,703, the equivalent of 27.44 per cent. on the common stock, after allowing the 5 per cent. payable on the preferred.

On January 1, 1914, the unfilled tonnage orders amounted to 24,865,560. The average number of men employed during the year was 15,052 and the wages paid amounted to $13,366,399, nearly $3,000,000 more than in 1912.

The corporation's surplus at the close of the year amounted to $9,490,562.

Those who have been pessimistic over business conditions will do well to read the above over twice.

It will prove a specific for those afflicted with "the blues" or affected by the unsound views and erroneous statements of calamity howlers.

On Second Thought

The trouble is that the man who would divide his last dollar with you seldom has the dollar.

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who wore the red flannel petticoat with which the limited was flagged and saved?

Some men incur the sneers of other men by failing to measure up to certain standards of conduct. A smaller number do it by wearing wrist watches.

When a woman has no diamonds there are few things she deprecates so much as the vulgarity of those who wear them.

A woman switches the porch light on and goes upstairs to bed secure in the belief that she has frightened every burglar in the neighborhood away.

Women frequently masquerade as men. But the only way in which you can induce a man to masquerade as a woman is to pay him money for doing it.

There are various ways in which a man may conceal his identity. One of them is by marrying a prima donna.

Sympathy is wasted on the man who goes through life thinking the cherry is the best part of a cocktail.

We should all forgive and forget, but it is mighty difficult to do two things at once.

A man, in time, gets over the notion that he is good looking, but he never ceases to believe that he is pretty smart.

Sing me songs of suicide
Hymns of happy homicide,
Jolly sweet infanticide,
Curse this frigid wave.
Slip me shot of Herpelide,
Push me full of germeide,
(Hell, they say, is warm inside)
Dig my little grave.

F. J.—We can see no owl's nest in the picture No. 5.

M. E. W., Sunbury—In picture 26 the bulletin board reads "4:15." Those who desire to submit more than one answer for each picture may obtain extra coupons of any or all pictures at the rate of 2c each.

G. M., R. D. 5, Coshocton—Full details of the contest will be sent promptly. You may enter now. In sending your order be sure to ask to start with picture No. 1.

W. J. R., Columbus—We are now offering to send to new subscribers by mail outside of Newark all the back coupons, a catalogue and subscription up to the 70th or last picture for 92 cents.

H. G. B., East Liberty—You write: "Can you reside outside of the eight counties in the contest district and still be in the contest without having a friend in one of those counties handling your coupons. Can I give a postoffice address and then have the mail forwarded? Please advise at once." The Advocate would like to have you enter the contest but the rules can not be altered. Many who are outside the district comprising Licking and the 7 adjoining counties are solving the pictures for the pleasure it gives them and others are working with friends or acquaintances who live in one of the 8 counties in the contest territory. The Advocate has ruled that all coupons must be signed in the name of a bona fide resident of Licking or an adjoining county.

Telephone—In picture 30, a box tied with a ribbon and labeled "Perfume" is seen upon the table.

IS POOR SEASON FOR MAPLE SYRUP SAY THE FARMERS

It is reported by farmers in the county that present indications point to a very poor season for maple syrup. But little of the delicacy has been made to date and those who have opened camps are not very sanguine as to the outcome.

The Licking county peach crop, as well as that throughout the state, is said to be "done for" by the recent zero weather.

TODAY'S BEST PHOTO PLAY STORIES

"Judith of Bethulia."

—Biograph.
This photo drama tells in pictures the story of the Book of Judith. The Assyrian, Holofernes, a general of the Assyrians, had laid siege to the Jewish city of Bethulia. The determined resistance of the inhabitants having prevented him from taking the walls by storm, Holofernes seized possession of the wells which supplied the city with water and prepared to starve the Jews into submission.

Weeks of suffering drove the besieged to despair. In their extremity, and while considering day for surrender, they appealed to Judith, the widow of Manasses, who because of her piety was greatly revered. "There was none," says the chronicler, "that gave her an ill word, for she feared God greatly."

Judith, heart-stricken by the appeals of her people, secluded herself in her house and devoted herself to prayer. Then she summoned the elders of the city to her and said: "Hear me, and I will do a thing which shall go from generation to generation to the children of our race. You shall stand this night in the gate and I will go forth with my waiting woman; and within the days that you have promised to deliver the city to our enemies the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand. But inquire not you of mine act, for I will not tell it unto you till the things be finished that I do."

That night Judith put sandals upon her feet and put on the anklets, the bracelets, the rings, the earrings, and all her ornamentation, and she adorned herself to allure the eyes of whatever men might see her. "Judith" was of goodly figure and very beautiful to behold, but when the guards at the gate saw her "they wondered at her beauty very greatly."

With a single servant the beautiful widow went to the camp of Holofernes. There she asserted that she was a fugitive from Bethulia because she knew the city must soon fall into the hands of the Assyrians and that she had come to tell their general how he might capture it without delay.

The soldiers whom she accosted took her to Holofernes' tent. The general was entranced by her beauty "and his heart was ravished with her and his soul was moved." He provided her with a richly furnished tent and gave orders that she should have face passport to every part of the camp. On the fourth day after her arrival Holofernes gave a feast in Judith's honor. He sought an opportunity to seduce her and drank much more wine than he had drunk at any time before in one day since he was born.

At the end of the entertainment Judith begged as a special favor that she might be permitted to take the place of Holofernes' cup bearer for the night. The general readily consented. When they were alone the widow persuaded him to drink until he fell into drunken slumber. Then, with his own sword, she cut off his head.

That night she and her servant stole out of the Assyrian camp and made their way back to Bethulia carrying the Assyrian's head in a provision sack. There, in the midst of the defenders, she threw down the head of the Assyrian general.

So encouraged were the Bethulians by this exploit that they marched out of the city and descended in the morning on the Assyrians. The latter rushed to his tent to wake their general, but found only his headless body. Panic seized them and the Bethulians, attacking them in the midst of their confusion, exterminated their army.

"Auld Lang Syne."

—Biograph.
That new wrinkles are not always wisest is shown by this picture, which relates how the old-fashioned grocery store no longer returns but bills. In his efforts at remodeling the business he took in the chairs from the front door that for time immemorial had accommodated his father's customers, who were obliged to transfer their seats to the plaid placed chairs of the rival grocer across the street.

WOULD RETAIN THE CANNING FACTORY NEAR PATASKALA

Farmers in the vicinity of Pataskala are putting forth an effort to retain the canning factory now located there. It is reported officers of the company have indicated they might remain for another season's trial provided they are assured 300 acres of peas. A canvass has been started to obtain the required acreage.

Miss Lillian Gish.

THE two young women, Miss Lillian Gish and Miss Lillian Gish, appearing in this strikingly effective presentation of the Judith picture, are well known figures in the moving picture world. Neither has been here so long, for both are decidedly youthful, but they have been of such a superior quality that they have speedily achieved success sufficient to give them strong roles in this pretentious production. Miss Sweet has played with Belasco, then with the Biograph people, and now she is associated with the Mutual Film company. Miss Gish began her career as Little Eva in the legitimate when she was 6 years old, and now she is given many of the Mutual company's heavy roles.

These old men do some excellent acting. Finally the father takes the reins in his hands and puts the chairs out in front again and peace, harmony, and business are restored.

"The Sultan and the Roller Skates."

—Edison.
Sam Spaulding, an American drummer, goes to Morocco to sell roller skates. Curiously enough he found the demand for these articles so popular in his own country, practically nil among the desert tribesmen. While he stands in the street brooding over his ill fortune a palanquin containing a beautiful "sultan" passes. He follows and when the palanquin stops at the gate to the sultan's palace he is astonished to discover that the sultan is a girl he used to know in Keokuk. When he attempts to speak to her a guard pushes him roughly aside, but the girl seizes the opportunity to thrust a note into his hands, saying she has been kidnapped and is being taken to the sultan's harem. "I will save you," he writes back. "Pretend you are deaf and dumb."

Spaulding succeeds in making his way into the palace. There he presents himself to the sultan and exhibits a pair of roller skates. The sultan is interested and for his benefit Spaulding gives a performance of fancy skating. Then he suggests that he would gladly teach one of the sultan's women to skate. By this device the American girl is able to put on a pair of rollers.

The exhibition that follows so pleases the sultan that he sends for skates for his whole court. Everybody begins trying to skate with amusing results. In the midst of the excitement Spaulding and the girl skate safely out of the palace and make their way to an American gunboat.

"The Smuggler's Sister."

—Reliance.
The revenue officer has fallen in love with the smuggler's sister. He has been sent by the government to put an end to the smuggling activities of her brother. The photoplay depicts his struggles between love and duty.

The girl extorts a promise from her brother not to smuggle again. The interview takes place on the beach and as the girl comes away from it the revenue officer stops her and attempts to steal a kiss. She repels him with indignation and the revenue man takes his revenge by overpowering the brother, binding him, and setting him adrift in an open boat. The sister releases her brother by swimming out to the boat and unbinding him. The revenue man, who has been watching from a cliff, loses his balance and falls to the beach below, badly injuring himself. The smuggler finds him there, but the revenue man rejects his offers of assistance.

A letter comes to the revenue man telling him either to arrest his man or resign from the service. The revenue man finds the smuggler in the cave which he has been in the habit of using as a storehouse for contraband goods. He has arrested him when the sister again appears. She pleads with the smuggler to reform, telling him of the smuggler's promise of reform. The revenue man yields to this persuasion and tearing off his star sings it to the ground.

"The Drudge."

—Vitaphone.
Anna Louise is a pretty little teacher whom Dick loves. He tells her he is going away and make a lot of money and then marry her, so they plight their troth and Dick goes blithely to the city. The rich father of one of Anna Louise's pupils has awakened to her charms, so he takes her driving and proposes to her. The girl is very tired of the drudgery of school, and she has received discouraging letters from Dick, and the one announcing his success is intercepted by her father's suitors, so she finally consents to marrying with the latter.

Anna Louise soon finds that courtship is much different from marriage and school teaching from being a slave for a farmer. She is compelled to work unceasingly at all kinds of unbecoming tasks and to shield her little cripple boy from the father's wrath and the stepmother's teasing.

In her agony she recalls her old sweetheart, Dick, and her thought reaches him telepathically in his comfortable quarters in New York, where he is succeeding very well. In answer to this feeling he goes to the town where she lives and asks her to come away with him. Anna Louise yields and gets ready to depart, but her boy cannot sleep, and several times he comes downstairs on his little crutch and begs her to stay with him, until at last the day is won and she decides to do her duty by her child. She is saved much more misery now, for by the convenient runaway of the horse-drawn band is driving, which leaves him and his son stretched out lifeless on the grass.

Friday

Of all fried days this is the best, for men who earnestly have toiled; it couldn't have a keener zest if it were poached or stewed or boiled.

For now the week draws to its close, and we who worked to gain the prize, look forward to the sweet repose the Sabbath brings to weary guys. Pull soon the wages we have earned will come to us, the plunks, and the rocks, and will those wages then be burned, or thrown at owls and chicken-hawks? Shall we go forth and blow the coins, to gather which we sprained our thumbs and dislocated back and loins, and tore the half-soles from our shoes? Ah, no! The passing years have brought some wisdom, and we're frugal now; each man will tiddle to his cot, and hand the bullion to the frau. On Friday, with reward in sight, the cheerful toiler turns his crank, and thinks of how, with sane delight, he'll place three dollars ($3) in the bank. The week grows old, 'twill soon be sped, and we have rocks who for them chased; but those who paint the village red have nothing but a dark green taste.

INCREASE WEIGHT QUICKLY Simple Way for the Thin and Pale to Be Plump and Rosy.

Samose can hardly be termed a medicine, it is in reality a flesh forming food. Taken before or after meals, it mingles with the food you eat, enables it to assimilate and readily digest, so as to make rich blood and pleasing plumpness.

After Samose has been used a week or ten days a noticeable gain in weight is seen. The sallow complexion will become rosy, the sunken cheeks will have a ruddy glow, the eyes will be bright, the breath sweet and the step elastic.

Use Samose for a month and all the flesh of the body will be firm and solid, and the outlines beautiful and symmetrical.

With the return of good health following the use of Samose, emaciation is overcome, and the thin and scrawny are once more plump and rosy.

W. A. Erman's customers have told him of the remarkable results following the use of Samose, the great flesh forming food, and he is so thoroughly convinced of its reliability that he is selling it under his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it. You who are thin and in poor health cannot afford to let another day pass without getting a 50c box of Samose on those terms.

Civic Pride and Selfishness Are Vastly Different Qualities; Cultivate One, Shun the Other

There is a vast difference between civic pride and civic selfishness, just as one of these qualities in an individual may be commendable and worthy of being cultivated, while the other is always despicable and should be rooted up and forever cast aside. It is a matter of observation that just so far as selfishness is a predominant state of many individual minds in a community that community will give forth an atmosphere that is repellent, instead of attractive to those on the outside, who would attempt to gain an interest in that city with a view to becoming a resident, or locating any enterprise that would in the end be of lasting benefit to all concerned.

Let us apply this general axiom to our own city, and take it to ourselves individually. Be sure that you have the proper spirit that recognizes not alone the rights but the opportunities for doing good that are in others, which may be needs only a word from you, or a thoughtful exercise of a little tactful encouragement to become a power for good in the community. If each one cultivates this attitude toward others, it becomes a habit with him, and communicates itself to others with the swiftness of contagion, and the sum total will mean that as a city, Newark will be known as a place that welcomes from any source, every influence tending toward progress and civic betterment along all lines.

Selfishness does not always manifest itself in an overt act of commission, but may be equally potent for harm in acquiescent attitude toward any proposition, when the proposition needs active co-operation and needs hearty personal and combined support for the success it deserves. It is right and proper that the directors of the Board of Trade should take cognizance of the public feeling toward the new plan announced by them for the industrial development of Newark, by the creation of a fund to be used for the sole purpose of securing new factories to locate in the city.

In many quarters the method has been formally indorsed by resolution, while great numbers of individuals have vouchsafed a desire and willingness to lend their support in furthering its purpose and aim. This is the duty of every single citizen because the object is to better on entire city along most approved lines, which of necessity must have a beneficial effect upon each inhabitant.

Can any other motive than selfishness be attributed to the small property owner for instance, (but the same is true of every citizen) who is in every sense dependent for his present prosperous and happy condition upon the general welfare made possible by industrial development of the past, who withholds his support, criticizes either persons or methods without giving them the consideration due or takes an active stand against the proposition? Surely not, for it is selfishness. Such a man owes it to the city as his share of obligation for a part of his time, effort and money to this project for the general good. The plan proposed suggests only an infinitesimal portion of any one's wealth to be contributed toward the great end to be accomplished, and selfishness who complacently views his own success without any sense of obligation, or realization of his duty to lend his influence and support.

Another class is that composed of men who are indifferent, or show lack of interest in the plan. This selfishness is if possible of more damage than the more active, by its invidious character, tending to contract a man's ideals, dwarf his sentiment of civic responsibility, and dull his appreciation of good citizenship. This class does not even take the trouble to read the plan, study its general features and the specific details of its proposed operations, and then form and express some opinion as to its advisability. It is even an easier task to reach those who have honest opposition, with arguments to meet and overcome objections, than the class mentioned. Don't hold back and view a work being done for your benefit with that of others, with complacent satisfaction, or uninterested indifference and appropriate to yourself credit for accomplishment or plead innocence of any blame for a possible failure. Either course is lacking in true manhood and good citizenship.

It each one does his full duty and applies to the secretary of the Board of Trade for information concerning the operations contemplated by that body, take out a membership card, join his force with that of others to ward the end in view, he can then be sure there will be no failure, and his share in the success can be justly appropriated by him as a matter of congratulation.

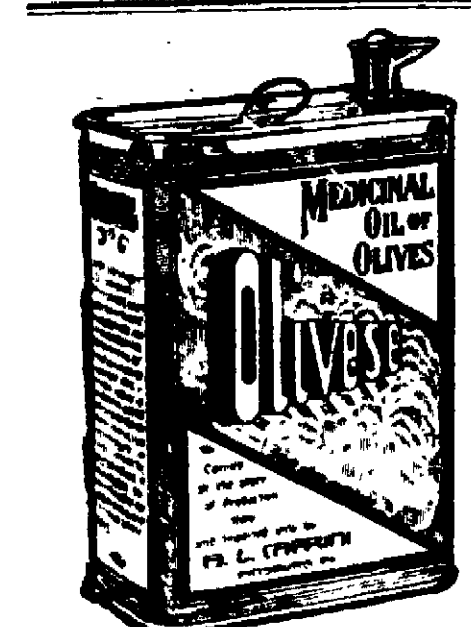

Wheelbarrows of Shantung.
The wheelbarrow is the most common medium of transportation in Shantung. The load is balanced about the wheel so that the workman does not have to carry a portion of the load as is the case with the American wheelbarrow. Some wheelbarrows have but one push man, some have a pulling man as well; some have one, two and three donkeys to aid in the pulling and some are equipped with a sail to obtain the help of favorable winds. The equipment depends upon the load carried, the maximum load being about a ton. Transportation by wheelbarrow is from five to eight times as expensive as transportation by rail in this province. Thus the native methods of land transportation, even with labor receiving a wage of less than 10 cents gold a day, are costly, disproportionately so as compared with the prices of other commodities. Yet Shantung has tens of thousands of wheelbarrows engaged in traffic. It is easy to appreciate what railroads will mean to the development of this densely populated province.

When Broadway Sleeps.
From 9 to 10 o'clock each night is Broadway's siesta hour. That is when Broadway is most deserted. Theater goers are all in their seats, cafes are nearly or quite deserted and taxicabs are idle. Chauffeurs spend the time tinkering with their machines or loitering on the front seats, cigarettes duly glowing between their lips. Bartenders idly spend the sixty minutes polishing up the glasses, brushing off the top of the mahogany and swapping yarns. Theater ushers make the back row seats look as though the S. R. O. sign was out in front. Cabaret performers rest tired voices. Policemen, ticket speculators, hotel page boys, switchboard girls, all rest. The night is half done, but the real work has not yet begun. From 10 o'clock on the scene rapidly shifts. First come the visitors who like to watch the crowds, then the theaters add their hundreds and thousands, and soon the greatest street in all the world shakes off its lethargy and pop; Broadway's awake.—New York World.

Don't Let a Cold Settle on Your Lungs
Many cases of Lung Trouble can be traced directly to a severe cold which has been neglected, and which, as a result, has affected the lungs. If you have a persistent cough or cold, take warning before it is too late. Eckman's Alternative is most beneficial in such cases and has been the means of completely restoring to health many persons who had serious lung trouble. Read of this case:—
"Gentlemen: During the winter of 1911 I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. The doctor prescribed lung trouble. I tried nearly every preparation without any result and kept getting worse. Eckman's Alternative was recommended to me and I commenced using it as a last resort. The first bottle seemed to give no relief; in fact, I seemed to feel worse. But I kept on using the medicine and found out the first bottle had really started me on the road to recovery by loosening the mucus and making me expectorate freely. After using the medicine for some time my cough ceased, I gained flesh and color and am a well man."
—GEO. M. BATES.
Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Prominent Asthma, Stomachic Cough and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons, habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of "Eckman's Alternative," or write to Eckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. $10.00 LAUNDRY WORK & DRY CLEANING AT LICKING LAUNDRY

Now here is something that every member of the family can get benefit from—$10.00 worth of laundry work and dry cleaning at the Licking Laundry as a prize in the Advocate's big Booklovers' contest. With spring and summer at hand every one wants to "spruce up" and how can they do it better than by these two methods. The Advocate has purchased for one of its welcome Booklovers' prizes an order for $10.00 worth of laundry and dry cleaning work from the Licking Laundry, one of the best known industries of Newark.

Its offices are located at No. 15 West Church street and laundry and cleaning plant at 76 and 78 Jefferson street. This establishment is one of the most up-to-date plants in the state. It is built of brick and concrete and is 70 feet by 142 feet. It has all the most modern machinery in both laundry and dry cleaning departments. The Kelley hot water heating system is used and 2,000 gallons of water per hour can be heated up to 190 degrees with the exhaust steam from the engine. Two large steamers for pressing are used and every modern device for turning out the best of work.

The Licking Laundry company was established in Newark ten years ago under the management of Mr. J. W. Frazier, who has built up an immense business in both the laundry and dry cleaning departments. This big plant was purchased a few days ago by the Speck Brothers of Coshocton, O. The Speck Bros have now taken possession and are arranging to move their families to this city. They are men of long experience in this business, having been for many years part owners of the Eureka Laundry at Coshocton.

If you win this useful prize in the Advocate's Booklovers' contest you can be assured of getting best of value for your $10.00 worth of laundry work and dry cleaning from the Licking Laundry Company.

Start in this big guessing game today or you'll miss a lot of fun, besides you'll chance to win one of the splendid 136 prizes in the contest.

LOSS OF SENATE FIGHT NO WORRY TO SUFFRAGISTS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, March 20.—Advocates of woman suffrage today declared that they were not discouraged because they lost their fight in the United States Senate yesterday to secure the adoption of an amendment to the federal constitution extending the right of suffrage to women. The Senate voted 35 for the amendment to 34 against it, a two-thirds affirmative vote being necessary for passage. Suffrage leaders were pointing today to the majority of one vote in favor of the amendment as proof that their cause had scored a triumph in defeat and was far stronger than its opponents had ever been willing to admit. They profess to see in the action of the senate only a temporary setback in their fight and express the belief that woman suffrage would eventually come. They were hoping today that the Senate would reconsider its action before the close of the present session.

The fellow who marries a strong-minded woman is constantly reminded of the fact that in union there is strength.

WILL DISCUSS MORMONISM AS NATIONAL EVIL

Rev. Dr. James S. Martin of Pittsburgh, Pa., is the executive who organized the great Second World Christian Citizenship Conference held at Portland, Oregon a few months ago and from this Conference, truly representing the organized Christian thought of the whole world, an anti-Mormon crusade gained its impetus. The leading thinkers and Christian workers of the whole universe were there present and when the Rev. Dr. Robt. F. Coyle of Denver, Col., introduced by Dr. Martin, related the intimate evils of Mormonism fully 20,000 representative men and women coming from the uttermost corners of the earth, speakers for fifteen nations and every State in the Union arose as one person and demanded that definite action be taken against the whole scheme of polygamy and in opposition to all the Mormonism contemplates.

Dr. Martin is the militant head of the most aggressive religious world. He is making a National fight for the Bible in every school and will discuss this work in Newark.

Dr. Coyle will join Dr. Martin and Senator Cannon in a great Mass meeting to be held in New York on April 23 the joint auspices of the National Reform Association and the International Council for Patriotic Service.

Mrs. Frank L. Johnson, 317 Hudson Ave., is in charge of the meeting in Newark on March 24.

LOBBY FUND IS REPORTED "SET" TO DEFEAT BILL

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, March 20.—Stirred by reports that a fund of $50,000 had been raised by prison contractors to defeat proposed legislation to regulate and restrict the transportation of convict-made goods the Senate lobby committee today undertook to establish the facts in the case.

At Chairman Overman's request a subpoena had been served upon Edward Boyle, a Chicago attorney, formerly identified with the national conference of Charities and Corrections who has been counsel for certain prison contracting firms. Boyle is now in Washington and it is said, has been watching the progress of the pending Hughes bill.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Well-known local druggist says everybody is using old-time recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grand-mother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by looking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. EMPEROR HAD ROUGH VOYAGE ACROSS OCEAN

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAMS

New York, March 20.—The steamship Emperor arrived from Hamburg yesterday after the roughest voyage of her career. The port wing of her giant eagle figurehead was gone and four lifeboats were missing from their davits, having been carried away by an enormous wave which battered the steamship on the night of March 13. Driven by a gale of hurricane force, this sea struck the Emperor when she was about four hundred miles from the English channel, and caused great damage on the fore-castle deck. The hurricane lasted 24 hours.
Among the passengers were: Mrs. John Astor, who has come to prepare for the wedding of her son Vincent, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond.

Mr. McGee had a large collection of petitions, said to be signed by 150,000 persons, favorable to the Golden resolution pending in the assembly which would instruct the state officials to discontinue their efforts to have Thaw extradited. Two New York lawyers were also here in Thaw's interests.

Theaters

Last Night's Attraction.
 "Slop Thief," a farce in three acts by Carlyle Moore pleased a fair sized audience at the auditorium. The play was presented in this city by Cohan and Harris, coming here from Columbus where it played a three days engagement at the Hartman theater. The members of the cast were exceptionally well balanced the acting of John Findlay as William Carr, a kleptomaniac, being especially deserving of mention. John Webster as Jack Doogan the real thief handled the character in an excellent manner. The action of the play was continuous throughout in that at each rise of the curtain found the characters in exactly the same place as they were when the curtain had dropped at the end of the preceding act.

"The Girl of My Dreams" holds forth tonight, the book and lyrics being by Wilbur D Nesbit, the well known newspaper writer, and Otto Haverbach. There are many catchy and tuneful song numbers throughout the play.

At Auditorium Tonight.
 When the curtain rises tonight at 8-15 for the local presentation of the atmospheric play "The Girl of My Dreams" at the Auditorium, the management will be entitled to a deep sigh of relief. Today's business strain must have been nerve-racking. From the depot to the theater there has been a steady stream of activity and gaiety; an extra large force has been transporting the contents of two large baggage cars. The continual travel of the actors, actresses, their maids, the chorus, the special orchestra and the large company stage crew, to and fro, some afoot and others in automobiles and conveyances of every description, permeated the atmosphere adjacent to the east side of the Public Square into a veritable day of excitement and hustle. Everything is in readiness tonight to give the much heralded rollicking performance of life, song and fun with what is said to be the same enthusiasm that characterized its other celebrated performances all over America. The entire company of sixty people is in town. An unusual number of pretty girls are with the organization.

African Hunt Pictures.
 "The Paul Rairey African Hunt" pictures have enjoyed a longer run in New York than any other picture ever before shown. There are over 8000 feet of exciting and interesting experiences, costing over $250,000 to produce. The expedition consists of over four hundred people, so we can imagine how very large it is.

The Lion Hunt in the last reel is full of excitement and full of dangers to the participants in the hunt. You can make no mistake by spending an evening or an afternoon with Rairey at the auditorium.

Primrose and Dockstader.
 George Primrose and Lew Dockstader, veterans among American minstrels are said to be respectively as rimbly and as funny as in yester years, and it is with no little anticipation that local theater goers are looking forward to the coming of the reunited black-face stars to the Auditorium, Wednesday, March 25, with their all star aggregation of dancers, instrumentalists and funmakers.

Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader are presenting, this season, a big spectacular revival of genuine old time minstrelsy. The first part, called "The Temple of Mirth and Melody," is an original idea. In this portion of the entertainment Mr. Primrose demonstrates that he is still "America's most graceful dancer," and Mr. Dockstader, "that fellow of infinite jest," maintains his reputation as a laugh provoker with new and wonderful tales of his experiences with an automobile. Another feature of the first part is the introduction of Raymond Wylie, whose remarkable soprano voice has caused him to become known as the "Male Tetrastini." The first part closed with the rendition of grand opera scenes, in which Mr. Wylie sings the original score of the numbers with the greatest ease and facility. The olio is said to be particularly attractive. The Four Meteors, a brilliant coterie of vocalists open this portion of the program and are followed by Mr. Dockstader in his impersonation of the Bull Moose Chief, Colonel Roosevelt and his address to the suffragettes. Mr. Primrose, assisted by Foley and Murphy will introduce many novel terpsichorean diversions. The Four Musical Brown Brothers, which is said to be the best musical act on the American stage closes the olio. The afterpiece, "Down Home" from the pen of Mr. Primrose is in four scenes and introduces the entire company. A street parade will be given at noon on the day of the performance.

"The Lady of the Slipper."
 David Montgomery, of Montgomery and Stone, is a native of St. Joseph, Mo., and like a lot of other citizens born in that locality, is proud of the fact. Mr. Montgomery fledged himself for combat with a hard world as office boy and junior clerk in the freight office of the Burlington railroad. His native gifts as an amateur minstrel performer and his predilection for baseball, at which he is still a happy fan, secured David's dismissal from the freight office on the grounds that his activities, in the entertainment and base ball line, were destroying the discipline of the entire force of junior clerks. David bought him an alto horn, some burnt cork, a scratch wig, and fared forth in minstrel show. In New Orleans he met up with a lathy acrobat out of employment. The acrobat's name was Fred Stone. Briefly, that's the explanation of more laughs for the American public than there ever were in Joe Miller's joke book. This favorite team of comedians is coming to the Auditorium in the musical comedy, "The Lady of the Slipper."

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

Dyspeptics Can Make the Rest of the Family Happy by Using a Laxative-Tonic.

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table depend, so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experiences of some former dyspeptic who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

Maj. J. S. Martin of Joplin, Mo., now 77, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped him to a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good in years as he has since taking this excellent medicine, and in spite of his 77 years he says he feels like a boy. It is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup

MAJ. J. S. MARTIN

Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

NEW CABINET FOR FRANCE ANNOUNCED

Minister of Marine's Resignation Accepted—Public Sympathy With The Woman.

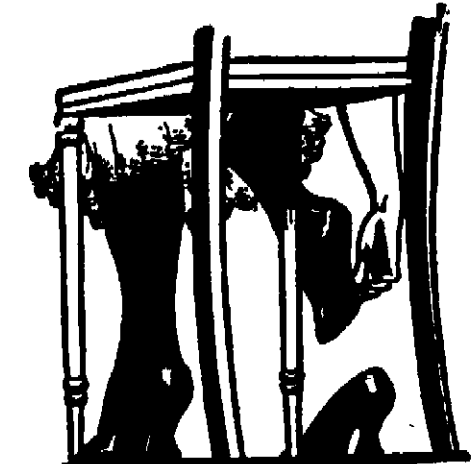

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Paris, March 20.—Madame Caillaux's assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro brought about another change in the French cabinet today, when Ernest Monis, minister of marine, added his resignation to that of Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance.

A meeting of the cabinet council accepted the resignation. For the present, Albert F. Lebrun, minister of colonies will act also as minister of marine. Madame Caillaux is still the object of deep popular sympathy. Crowds took advantage today of the midwinter holiday to gather at the gates of St. Lazare prison, the women's penitentiary where she is in custody. The people manifested great curiosity in visitors to the jail which included the lawyer engaged for her defense.

Madam, For These Corns That Make You Jump Out of Your Shoes, Try Wonderful "GETS-IT."

"Just think, at the way that corn comes off when you try wonderful 'GETS-IT' on that corn you've tried so long to pry off your toe. It's easy to apply. 'GETS-IT'—one, two, three, and it's done. The corn begins to shrivel, away she goes, surely, absolutely, a few drops will do it. 'GETS-IT' never makes toes red and raw. Corn pains go! It means the end of cutting and gouging of corns, the end of sticking plasters that don't work anyhow, the end of salves that eat up your toes, no more 'harpers', or fussing. Try 'GETS-IT'—the new, sure way, for corns and calluses."

TOMORROW IS ORANGE DAY

Tomorrow will be known as "Orange Day," Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture, and universally admitted to be one of the greatest authorities on pure foods and dietetics in the world, says: "Eat oranges; eat them in winter, eat them in the summer; eat as many as you can afford to buy; they are better for you than physic."

In an interview, Dr. Wiley says: "Oranges are excellent for people. It is good to eat oranges for breakfast and also for dinner—not from a medical, but an anti-medical standpoint. Both oranges and lemons ought to be used freely as the financial ability allows. . . . People ask sometimes whether oranges should be eaten at the beginning or end of a meal. It is better to eat oranges first; the effect cannot be so good after one has partaken of other food."

THE "GERMANS" VS. NEWARK HIGH

"The Newark High basketball team will wind up their season at the Army in this city, on the evening of Friday, March 20, with a game with the Granville Germans, an especially clever team," George Reese who holds down the "chair of veracity" in the LaFerre tailoring establishment saw this announcement in the Newark papers and wondered who the Germans could be. If it were the Germans he knew, viz. Siegel, Miller, Futurer, Kell and "Koo" the game would be worth going to see.—Granville Times.

Pearls as Medicine. Scotland still produces pearls, found mainly in the fresh water mussel. They could no doubt be found in England if the industry were profitable.

Cleopatra was not the only person who swallowed a dissolved pearl. Until comparatively recently pearls were used medicinally in the west and still appear in the materia medica of China. According to one Chinese authority, a pearl, after being treated with pumice stone and honeycomb, mixed with the gall of a serpent, "might be drawn out to the length of three or four feet. Make it into pills and swallow them—henceforth food will be unnecessary."

The suggestion is not that the patient would be finished off, but that he would live, foodless, forever.—New York Sun.

POSTOFFICE SITE OFFERS ARE OPENED

AT WASHINGTON WEDNESDAY AND PRICES ASKED VARY FROM $75,000 TO $14,000

Inspector Will Be Sent To Newark In Near Future To Examine And Report on Sites.

The offers of sites for the new federal building and postoffice, to be constructed in Newark, were opened in the United States Treasury department Wednesday, and an inspector of the department will be sent to Newark in the very near future to examine the sites offered which will be reported to the department and the matter will be disposed of at a date not far distant. The entire appropriation for site and building is $190,000 of which $18,000 has already been used to purchase the Sherwood site, which is now for sale by the government. It is entirely unavailable, and has been advertised. There was no outright cash bid for this site, but according to the terms of several offers it will be taken as part payment on another site, in addition to the cash price. It is the general opinion that this old site will have to be sold by the government for much less than was paid for it.

The highest price asked for a site was by the Brown Realty company, $75,000, and the lowest $14,000 for the site offered by The Canal Land company, east side Third street. In several instances sites were offered but the price was not stated.

Congressman W. A. Ashbrook has furnished the Advocate with a list of the sites offered which is as follows:

Albert H. Sells, Lot S. E. Cor. Second and Franklin streets, 160x150, $33,000.

Brown Realty Company, Lot South Second and unnamed street, 172x200, $75,000.

The Pythian Castle Company, East Main street, 149 1/2x198, $19,000 and old site.

J. E. Snelling had a letter on file, stating he wished to make an offer but the same had not been received.

TELEPHONE ACHIEVEMENTS

TELEPHONE SERVICE OF TO-DAY THE CREATION OF THE BELL CO.

In no line of human endeavor has the inventive brain of the scientist contributed more to the world's progress than by the creation of the art of telephony, of which the Bell system is the embodiment.

When the telephone was born, nothing analogous to telephone service as we now know it existed. There was no tradition to guide, no experience to follow.

The system, the apparatus, the methods—an entire new art had to be created. The art of electrical engineering did not exist. The Bell pioneers, recognizing that success depended upon the highest engineering and technical skill, at once organized an experimental and research department which is now directed by a staff of over 550 engineers and scientists, including former professors, post-graduate students, scientific investigators—the graduates of over 70 universities.

From its foundation the company has continuously developed the art. New improvements in telephones, switchboards, lines, cables, have followed one another with remarkable rapidity.

While each successive type of apparatus to the superficial observer suggested similarity, each step in the evolution marked a decided improvement. These changes, this evolution, has not only been continuous, but is continuing. Substantially all of the plant now in use, including telephones, switchboards, cables and wires, has been constructed, renewed or reconstructed in the past 10 years.

Particularly in switchboards have the changes been so radical that installations costing in the aggregate millions have frequently been discarded after only a few years of use.

Since 1877 there have been introduced 53 types and styles of receivers and 73 types and styles of transmitters. Of the 12,000,000 telephone receivers and transmitters owned by the Bell Company January 1, 1914, none were in use prior to 1902, while the average age is less than five years.

Within 10 years we have expended for construction and reconstruction an amount more than equal to the present book value of our entire plant.

Long-distance and underground transmission was the most formidable scientific problem confronting the telephone experts.

The retarding effect of the earth on the telephone current often impaired conversation through one mile underground as much as through 100 miles overhead. Overhead conversation had its distinct limitations.

No possible improvement in the telephone transmitter could of itself solve these difficulties.

The solution was only found in the cumulative effect of improvements, great and small, in telephone, transmitter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of apparatus or plant required in the transmission of speech.

While the limit of commercial overhead talking had increased from strictly local to over 1000 miles as early as 1893, it was not until 1905 that conversation could be had over long-distance circuits of which as much as 20 miles was in underground cables. By 1906 underground talking distance had increased to 90 miles. By 1912 it was possible to talk underground from New York to Washington.

It was then that the construction of underground conduits from Boston to Washington was determined upon—not that it was expected to get a thorough underground talk between those places, but in case of storm or blizzard, to utilize intermediate sections in connection with the overhead.

Our persistent study and incessant experimentation have produced results more remarkable still.

We have perfected cables, apparatus and methods that have overcome obstacles heretofore regarded as insuperable both to long-distance overhead and underground conversation.

Underground conversation is now possible between Boston and Washington, four times the length of the longest European underground line. This enabled the Bell system in the recent great storm, so destructive on land and sea, to maintain communication for the public between all the principal points on the Atlantic seaboard.

Telephone communication is established between New York and Denver, is potentially possible between all points in the United States, and by 1915 will be an accomplished fact between New York and San Francisco.

In our use of methods or apparatus, we are committed to no one system. We own, control or have the right to use inventions necessary to operate any system recognized or accepted as the most efficient. The Bell System must always be governed by the necessities of a national service, with its complex requirements, which is infinitely more exacting than local or limited service.

These achievements represent vast expenditures of money and immense concentration of effort which has been justified by results of immeasurable benefit to the public. No local company unaided could bear the financial or scientific burden of this work. Such results are possible only through a centralized general staff, avoiding wasteful duplication of effort, working out problems common to all for the benefit of all.

The pioneers of the Bell System recognized that telephone service as they saw it, was in the broadest sense a public utility; that upon them rested a public obligation to give the best possible service at the most reasonable rates consistent with risk, investment and the continued improvement and maintenance of its property.

Without this expenditure of millions and concentration of effort, the telephone art as it exists could not have been developed.

What we have done in working out these great problems in the past should be accepted as a guarantee of what we will do in the future.

PIMPLY? WELL DON'T BE!

People Notice it. Drive Them off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you will get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10 c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

Silkworm Fish Lines.

China produces quantities of the glutinous thread generally known as silk fishing line or silkworm gut. The so-called silk fish line or silkworm gut is usually prepared from silkworms in the caterpillar state. When the worms are about to spin their cocoons they are killed by lightly pulling them so as to break their skins, after which they are immersed in vinegar for a considerable period. Then they are pulled apart in a way to draw out a long, glutinous thread formed by the silky secretion of the worm. This thread is then stretched on a board or otherwise and dried in the sun. In the West river district about Wuchau, whence most of the Hongkong exports come, the silkworm is usually a special wild green variety about three inches long and is fed on leaves of the camphor tree. The threads vary in length from three to six feet.

A speaker in an English election relates the following incident: One night he spoke in the poultry market at Whitechurch. The next morning a young man stopped him in the street and said: "I was looking well after you last night."

The speaker expressed surprise at the necessity.

The young man continued his story: "I saw a young man come into the meeting with his coat pockets bulging out in a way that made me suspicious. Two of us followed him in. He stood at the back of the room, and we stood one on each side of him. Gently but firmly we pressed against him. There was a crackling sound of breaking eggs, and the man was out of action."

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Natural Food.
Alfred McCann, a pure food expert, advises the public to take foods in the dull colors that nature offers. "Do not polish the rice nor rub the biscuits," he says. "Just what we should use, the vitamins of meat, vegetables and grains, are thrown away. When we restore to the American diet the real grain as it comes from nature, such as the brown, wholesome rice, we shall cut tuberculosis in two. This last statement is not original, but is the conclusion of intelligent authorities."

Staking the Meat.
In "Our Southern Highlanders" Horace Kephart says:

"The mountaineers have an odd way of staking the spoils of the chase. They call it 'stoking the meat'—a use of the word 'stoke' that I have never heard elsewhere. The hide is sold and the proceeds divided equally among hunters, but the meat is cut up into as many pieces as there are partners in the chase. Then one man goes indoors or behind a tree, and somebody at the carcass calls out, 'Whose piece is this?' 'Granville Callhoun's,' cries the hidden man, who cannot see it. 'Whose is this?' 'Bill Cope's.' 'And so on down the line. Everybody gets what chance determines for him, and there can be no charges of unfairness.'"

Fido Was Undecided.
"Oh, Mr. Smith," cried the young lady as she greeted her caller, "so you have been making friends with Fido. And do you think he likes you?" "Well," said Mr. Smith grimly, "I don't believe he's quite decided yet. He's had only one bite of me, and he seems to want another." Exchange.

Abstinence is a fine thing, as you will find out if you want the earth.

ALTITUDE RECORD MADE BY AVIATOR WITH PASSENGERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
ohannisthal, March 20.—An altitude record of 12,330 feet for a flight with three passengers was established today by Robert Thelen, the German aviator.

The previous record for a flight in an aeroplane carrying three passengers was held by the French aviator Garaix who on March 2 attained a altitude of 10,890 feet at Chartres.

Thackeray in Baltimore.

The first and only time I saw him (Thackeray) was in Baltimore when I was seventeen years old.

He and John P. Kennedy, a friend of my father, strolled one Saturday afternoon into the Mercantile library, where we boys were reading.

"Look!" came from a tangle of legs and arms bunched up in an adjoining easy chair. "That's the Mr. Thackeray who is lecturing here."

My glance followed a directing finger and rested on a tall, rather ungraceful figure, topped by a massive head framed about by a fringe of whitish hair, short, fuzzy whiskers, crumpled collar and black stock. Out of a pink face peered two sharp, inquiring eyes, these framed again by the dark rims of a pair of heavy spectacles, which, from my point of sight, became two distinct dots in the round of the same pink face. The portrait of Horace Greeley widely published during his presidential campaign—the one all throat whiskers and spectacles—has always recalled to my mind this flash glimpse of the great author, whom I afterward learned to revere.—P. Hopkinson Smith in "In Thackeray's London."

Burmans and Tigers.

Sir H. Thirkell White in his book, "A Civil Servant in Burma," tells the following true tiger stories to illustrate the bravery of the Burman:

"One day a tiger came upon two little girls in the jungle, seized the younger and was trotting off with her. The elder sister, a girl of about twelve, took off her tunic (skirt) and flapped the tiger about the face till the astonished beast dropped the child and fled. The truth of this story is proved by the fact that the government gave the girl a silk tunic in recognition of her courage and presence of mind. Another time, quite recently, a woodman was seized by a tiger. He cut at him with his knife till the tiger dropped him and retreated. The man, enraged at being attacked, followed and slashed him again, his only weapon being a long wood cutting knife."

It was nearly midnight. "That fellow who is calling on Maude hates to go," growled Maude's parrot. "Who, it seems to me he is pretty far gone already," replied Maude's mamma, complacently.

STATE OFFICERS ARE QUARANTINED AT INSTITUTION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Albany, N. Y., March 20.—Four examiners from the state department of efficiency who went to the state hospital at Willard to make an investigation of the accounts of the institution, were today quarantined by the hospital authorities because they had been exposed to smallpox in a nearby village.

The examiners will probably be detained at the institution for three weeks.

Bulldozing the Bull.

A few years ago I took the short course at our college of agriculture, and, besides learning how to judge calves and so forth, I learned the university yell. During the following summer our neighbor's bull bothered us at times by breaking through the fence and coming up from the pasture with our cows. Finding this breachy bull in the lane one night, my brother, who also knows something about college yells, and I each took a pitchfork and started after him.

The bull took to his heels and ran until he came to a good sized elm tree. Here he wheeled and started pawing up the earth and bellowing and otherwise showing an inclination to fight. To keep up our own courage we started giving the college yell. The bull gave one startled look and then made for home the straightest and swiftest way. It took him through two barbed wire fences, but they did not hinder him any. He did not trouble us again. The moral of this is: When you go to college learn all you can, for you never can tell what you may have use for.—Country Gentleman.

A Friend in Need.

A speaker in an English election relates the following incident: One night he spoke in the poultry market at Whitechurch. The next morning a young man stopped him in the street and said:

"I was looking well after you last night."

The speaker expressed surprise at the necessity.

The young man continued his story: "I saw a young man come into the meeting with his coat pockets bulging out in a way that made me suspicious. Two of us followed him in. He stood at the back of the room, and we stood one on each side of him. Gently but firmly we pressed against him. There was a crackling sound of breaking eggs, and the man was out of action."

He presents statistics to show that there were admitted to the United States marine hospitals during the fiscal year ending June 30 last 392 cases of typhoid fever among the personal among the merchant marine in addition to many others treated at public hospitals and at home.

The surgeon general strongly urges that all shipping in this region recommend and encourage their ship employees to immunize themselves against infection by the use of typhoid prophylactic.

KANSAS FARMERS SUE UNCLE SAM

Hutchinson, Kas., March 20.—Suit has been filed here on behalf of 110 farmers against the United States for $370,000.

LOVE ROMANCE FIGURES IN WAR IN OLD MEXICO

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
San Diego, Cal., March 20.—Love for the beautiful daughter of the rebel general commanding the forces at Topolobampo, Mexico, caused Lieutenant Malpica, executive officer of the former federal gunboat Tampico to forget his allegiance to President Huerta of Mexico and surrender the war craft to the father of the girl he loved, according to the story told by passengers arriving here yesterday from ports on the west coast of Mexico.

Lieut. Malpica met the girl who is now his wife, some months ago at a dance in Guaymas. They fell in love, but the girl refused to accept the officer's proffer of marriage unless he took the Tampico to Topolobampo from Guaymas and turned it over to her father.

Malpica, it is said, represented to his commanding officer that he received word from Mexico City to take the Tampico to Topolobampo and shell the rebels. The captain, it is said, assented. At Topolobampo he was seized and sent to Mazatlan.

Malpica was put in command of the Tampico and a few days later was married to the rebel general's daughter.

The address declares that "the scandals are a stain on the newly begun reign of the emperor and are harmful to the prestige of the Japanese navy both at home and abroad."

Students in Granville are still talking about the success of the entertainment tendered the young ladies of Sheperdson college Tuesday night by the Y. M. C. A. in honor of the Ohio basketball champions. It is reported to have been one grand event in burlesque gymnastics, concluding with a basketball game between the "hes" and "shes," during which the deep voice of one of the "shes" tipped off a slight deception in the matter of dress.

The Corticelli club met with Mrs. Walters on Wednesday afternoon at her home in Burt avenue. The afternoon was spent in needlework after which light refreshments were served. FUR FOR MIDSUMMER.

Some of the pretty frocks for wear after Easter are touched with fur. The newest type of lingerie costume is of embroidered net, boucans of the fabric alternating with boucans of plain net edged in battlement effect. The broad wash of turquoise silk is embroidered in yellow, and amber bands give the completing color note.

Madame Isbell's Beauty Lesson

LESSON V.—FACE POWDER IN JUBILEE

Daily Care of the Eyes. The eye, itself, needs daily care and an eye-cup is as necessary as a tooth brush. Personally, I believe in pure, cold water, but some oculists do not agree with me and recommend that a weak solution of boric acid should be used. Ask your druggist for a saturated solution, half fill the eye-cup with this and add lukewarm water to make a comfortable temperature. Put the eye-cup against the eye and throw the head back with the eye open, letting the liquid flow over the entire eyeball. Wash out the eye-cup before using on the other eye.

In Face Powder Importance. I have received many letters asking if I believe in the habitual use of face powder. Some years ago, I should have said "no," but today it is possible to procure pure face powder and my answer is that a pure powder, properly applied, is not only harmless but best to the skin. Face powder acts as a protection.

Proper Way to Use Powder. Be sure your face is perfectly clean and moisten it with a little good skin food. Use a pure powder that matches the tint of your complexion and put it on with a clean puff, cambric or bit of absorbent cotton. You will feel cooler, fresher, and the skin will be protected from wind and sun. Any drying effect of the powder is overcome by the use of the cream. At night clean the face with a good cleansing cream before applying water.

Women who use creams and powder keep their skin youthful far longer than those who do not. This fact has been proven and attested to by one of the leading medical journals.

DEATH CLAIMS PIONEER WHO CAME HERE '36

In the death of Thomas Hughes Sr., of 95 Buena Vista street, Newark loses one of its most highly respected and best known pioneer citizens. Mr. Hughes, who was 86 years old, died Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock from infirmities due to advanced years. His death occurred at the home of his son, John W. Hughes, where he has made his home since he retired from active business life about 1897.

For a quarter of a century Mr. Hughes was superintendent of the Artificial Gas company in Newark, retiring a short time before that company gave up its franchise, following the installation of natural gas mains in the city streets.

He was born March 12, 1828 at Denbyshire, North Wales, and came to Newark with his parents in 1836. He arrived in the village aboard a canal boat, landing at a point that is now South Fourth street.

After attaining young manhood, Mr. Hughes became identified with the business interests of Newark and was one of the prominent citizens. Shortly after the gas company was established here he became its superintendent.

He was married Sept. 27, 1849, to Miss Mary Williams, who died Feb. 14, 1892.

Four children survive Mr. Hughes. They are Thomas and John Hughes, Mrs. Frank Atherton and Mrs. W. G. Harrison, all of Newark.

Mr. Hughes was a member of the Welsh Calvinistic church up to the time this congregation disbanded several years ago.

Funeral services will be held in the home of the son, John W. Hughes, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Calvin G. Hazlett officiating. Interment at Cedar Hill cemetery.

YOUR BLOOD

is the canal of life but it becomes a sewer if clogged up. All life consists of building up and bearing down and just in the same manner that the blood carries to the various parts of the body the food that the cells need for building up, so it is compelled to carry away the waste material that's torn down. These waste materials are poisonous and destroy us unless the liver and kidneys are stimulated into refreshed and vigorous life.

WATER PIPE IS ON STREETS; MILD WEATHER WANTED

A quantity of six and eight inch water pipe has arrived in the city and has been distributed in South Second street, Elizabeth street and Kibler avenue where it will await the arrival of mild weather. The water-works construction department is ready to install the eight-inch main over the South Second street bridge which, with the six inch main now installed, will insure the people in that district an ample supply of water of good quality. The department plans to put in the water main in Kibler avenue and Elizabeth street before the latter street is paved. Everything is in readiness for the contractors to bid on the paving contract and this work will be carried through as soon as possible after the mains are put down.

RHEUMATISM AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Prof. Budlong Was Quickly Relieved of Both Afflictions By Using Rheuma.

If you suffer from any form of Rheumatism, remember that RHEUMA goes to work quickly to remove the cause, not simply to relieve the distress. Many years' use has demonstrated that it goes to the seat of the disease and expels the poisonous matter through the natural channels—the kidneys, bowels, liver and skin.

"For many years I was troubled with Rheumatism, also with Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I suffered awfully. Tried many advertised remedies. After using your truly remarkable preparation, RHEUMA, I was fully cured."—Prof. C. J. Budlong, Sound View, Conn.

RHEUMA is guaranteed by Evans' Drug Store, which sells it for 50 cents a bottle.

Seed Is Their Currency. An ancient system of banking is still in active and successful operation in southern Italy. This is that of the mount frumentari, or grain storage warehouses. In these are stored large quantities of seed, which is given out to farmers upon demand without payment. After the harvest the farmers return to the warehouses the amount of seed they have received, plus interest in seed. Thus do the farmers become established agriculturists without the necessity of borrowing money.

YOUR FRECKLES

Need Attention in February and March or Face Will Stay Covered.

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish it to look well the rest of the year. The February and March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all summer unless removed. Now is the time to use othine—double strength.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of othine—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

Stage Fright.

Very few people are really free from liability to stage fright, and the veteran in public life is just as likely to be affected as is the novice. Attacks, moreover, frequently come when they are least expected. Hence no speaker or artist can face an audience and feel sure that he will not have to suffer from the tortures of this particularly painful form of nervousness.

Musicians, of course, are the worst sufferers. The performer on a stringed instrument is helpless if his hand trembles, while the clear enunciation of a singer can be ruined by that "catch in the throat" or that twitching of the lips which is perhaps the simplest and most common manifestation of stage fright.

RADFORD, VA., MAN

Run-down and Nervous, Restored to Health by Vinol.

A. D. Robinson, Radford, Va., says: "I was all run down in health, had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep at night. Vinol was recommended to me and after using one bottle I noticed an improvement. Continuing its use I was completely restored to health. The nervousness is all gone, I can get a good night's sleep and have a hearty appetite. I can recommend Vinol to anyone who suffers as I did."

Vinol is the greatest body builder and strength creator we know of. The curative elements of the cod's liver, aided by the blood-making, strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol, restore the lacking ingredients to the blood, and the result is health, strength and vigor. If you need building up try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Frank D. Hall, Druggist, Newark, O.

LAST SNOW OF WINTER FELL DURING NIGHT

Thursday night's snow fall was the last of the present winter because winter will end with midnight tonight. Saturday, which is the 21st of March, will be the first day of spring and any subsequent snow fall will have to be credited to Miss Spring.

Brother Groundhog's prognostication made Feb. 2, proved to be more than accurate. Newark people experienced the roughest weather after the groundhog decided that winter was not over.

The astronomers figure that spring begins March 21, and while Newark people are still hovering around the fires, registers and radiators, it must be admitted that spring is officially here.

DANDRUFF SURELY DESTROYS THE HAIR

Makes It Dull, Brittle, Lifeless, and Causes It To Fall Out.

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. Adv

A Mistake. In England they call a "derby" a "bowler," and they say sweet where we say dessert. There's a story about that last difference.

A young Englishman, Lord Leland, supped at a dance in New York at a small table seating four. At the supper's end one of the two girls at this table rose and began to converse with a friend a few yards away. Just then a servant removed Lord Leland's "bombe Richelieu" before he had finished it, and the young man cried in a loud voice:

"I say, where's my sweet?"

The young lady who had risen from his table blushed, and, frowning at him coldly, she said:

"I'm not your sweet, Lord Leland."—Exchange.

Drug Clerk Tells How to Cure Indigestion.

Recommendations Sufferers the Best Stomach Remedy in Newark Today.

"It is a well known fact, that we have stomachs that, unbeknown to us, are drug clerk's secret. While all drug stores sell a great many of stomach-remedies, there is a wide demand, most of them are just pepsin pills, which, when taken, they have no curative or soothing effect on the stomach. And, of course, do not reach our cause. So the same people keep on using the same old remedy, until they are really sick. I have seen many people who have been told to take a stomach-remedy, and they have taken it, but just acts as a stimulant and sweetens the sour, instead of curing the stomach. That is why, I have found that the only remedy for indigestion, is a stomach-remedy, which, in just a few minutes, and the stomach is cured, without help or trouble. It's all right, my dear."

"Doctors make mistakes, too," he continued. "My own aunt had all kinds of trouble with her stomach for years. She bought a used several styles of digestive pills out got worse right along, as naturally she would. Finally she went to a doctor, who nearly scared her to death by telling her she had cancer of the stomach. She came to me with his prescription and told me what he said. I thought it was nonsense. I sent her to another doctor whom I knew very well and he didn't tell her anything, but just gave her this same thing, branded magnesia. She took it two weeks and never has had any stomach trouble since and that's three years ago. She my own aunt and I know this for a fact. Yes, a lot of branded magnesia is sold in Newark. All the druggists have it. I suppose, and all you take is a teaspoonful after every meal. It's all right."

ENDORSES THE PAUL RAINEY HUNT PICTURES

Manager Auditorium Theater
About a year ago I saw in New York the famous Paul Rainey "African Hunt" pictures. They were wonderfully interesting, instructive and unlike any other moving pictures I ever saw and probably the most expensive that ever were procured. You have given the public a rare opportunity to see something great.

NEWARK HIGH'S LAST BASKETBALL GAME AT CO. G. ARMORY HALL

Newark High plays its last basketball game for the present season tonight at Co. G. Armory in East Main street when the Granville Germans, an unofficial Denison aggregation, clashes with the local team. "EXCUSE ME," WILL BE THE SUBJECT OF MR. LOWE TONIGHT

One of the largest peak night audiences has attended the presentation of "Excuse Me," a comedy play, at the Central Church of Christ last evening. The spirit of the play is one of purely critical and humorous treatment of the subject of the "excuse me" which is the subject of the play. The play was written by Mr. Sturges and is a comedy of the "excuse me" which is the subject of the play.

Mr. Sturges' "Excuse Me" breathed the spirit of hope and faith. Mr. Lowe's sermon on "Conscience as a Guide" showed convincingly that conscience is a guide only when there has been proper teaching and guidance. He said that conscience does not tell us what our duty is, but what we have learned the right thing to do, and conscience urges us to do the right and avoid the wrong. Two more responses to the Gospel invitation. There will be a meeting for prayer and conference in the prayer meeting room of the church Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock, to which all are invited. All of the day and week of the city are cordially invited to the meetings for men and women respectively. Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Mr. Lowe will address the ladies in the auditorium and Mr. Ward will speak to the women in the prayer meeting room. Mr. Lowe's subject for Sunday is "Excuse Me."

ANOTHER COMELY ARMY. The Central Church of Christ has a new and beautiful display of the "Excuse Me" play, which is the subject of the play. The play was written by Mr. Sturges and is a comedy of the "excuse me" which is the subject of the play.
